

Abstract

A SRAM memory cell comprising cross-coupled inverters, each cross-coupled inverter comprising a pull-up transistor, where the pull-up transistors are forward body biased during read operations. Forward body biasing improves the read stability of the memory cell. Other embodiments are described and claimed.